SECRETS BETTER*To Revise Diplomatic, Army

By Robert G. Nixon

WASHINGTON, June 30.—(INS)—The American Government has instituted drastic precautions to safeguard national defense secrets from potential foreign enemies.

These stop-gaps include, it was learned today, revision of diplomatic, army and navy confidential codes.

An elaborate system of guarding America's vital defense secrets has become necessary in the light of the intensification of foreign espionage activities, sensationally brought to light with the recent indictment by a New York Federal grand jury of 18 alleged Nazi spies, including four high officials of the German war ministry.

One of the Army Air Corps secret signal code books, which outlined aerial warfare communication procedure, was fished and presumably turned over to the Nazi government by one of the indicted secret agents.

A thorough revision of the codes used for highly confidential dispatches in the diplomatic corps as well as the Army and Navy, has become advisable because of the widespread spy endeavors.

Officially the War, Navy and State departments declined to comment on the status of their confidential code books as these matters are necessarily surrounded by the utmost secrecy.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

(Copyright, 1938, by The Baltimore Sun)

A Solid Black Belt?

Washington, June 29. IN THE LAST campaign the really sensational political fact was the shift from their traditional Republican anchorage over to the New Deal Democratic harbor of something like two million Negro votes in the debatable States of the North. A number of things contributed to this wholesale transition—relief money, Federal patronage, committee pay-roll padding and a carefully concealed campaign of cajolery.

HOWEVER, the particular agency which between June and November, 1936, devoted itself exclusively and especially to corraling the great colored vote, already sweetened with White House recognition never before accorded, was known as the Good Neighbor League.

It was financed largely with C.I.O. money and was directed by the Rev. Stanley High, an earnest young gentleman, personally close to both the President and Mrs. Roosevelt, and well fitted for the task, being beautifully free from any sort of racial prejudice. It was Mr. High who managed the great Madison Square Garden's meeting for Negroes, where the colored committee unveiled a colossal painting of the Second Emancipation with Franklin D. Roosevelt standing to a height of twenty feet, his hands outstretched in benediction over a kneeling group of Negroes.

IT WAS Mr. High who got Mrs. Roosevelt to speak to the committee "inspirationally and off the record," arranged for her to stay on at the committee's modest offices long enough to shake hands all around, with a gracious word for

MEDICAL SOCIETY TO MAKE COUNTY SURVEY*Desires to Learn of Those Who Have Failed To Receive
Adequate Treatment*REQUESTS LETTERS

The Bucks County Medical Society, which is affiliated with the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania, today announces a survey of medical conditions throughout Bucks County.

It is the object and aim of the survey, says a statement issued by the society "of uncovering and correcting every situation in which any group, family or individual in need of medical care, seeking and willing to accept same, has failed to receive adequate treatment."

As a means of obtaining the facts desired the association urges "that every person having definite and authentic knowledge of any person or persons in this plight in our county, shall convey such information to the undersigned."

Two Bristol physicians have been designated to receive the information above referred to. They are Dr. J. Fred Wagner, secretary, and Dr. Frank Lehman, chairman of Public Relations Committee of the Bucks County Medical Society. Communications are to be addressed to either of the physicians named.

The complete statement issued by the Bucks County Medical Society, reads:

"During the past three months the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania through its component county medical societies has been making a survey of medical conditions throughout the State. This study is devoted to the single purpose of uncovering and correcting every situation in which any group, family or individual in need of medical care, seeking and willing to accept same, has failed to receive adequate treatment. To this end it is urged that any person having definite and authentic knowledge of any person or persons in this plight in our county, shall convey such information to the undersigned. We would also be glad to receive a letter from any person who has definite suggestions as to better methods for caring for the sick of the county. A similar survey is being made in every State in the nation.

Can He Resist?

By "The Stroller"
Howard I. James, Bucks County's well known attorney and Republican candidate for State Senator at the November election, has gone horticulturalist.

Mr. James is now seen traveling between his home and his office armed with a rake, hoe, spade and the various other implements used in gardening.

The reason is that the distinguished barrister has taken to gardening. He has staked off a plot to the rear of his law offices, and there may be found nightly and during his other spare moments cultivating a flower garden.

"See that plant," he will say. "Well, I planted that on ——. See how it has grown in that short time."

Friends of Mr. James are wondering, with the advent of the fishing season near, if he will be able to resist the pull of the line and the click of the reel and will continue to play with his newly found hobby.

Many are betting that it will be a short time now before that garden, which is now free of weeds and wild growth, will soon take on the appearance of an ordinary Bristol vacant plot of ground in mid-August.

COUNTY DIRECTORS
FAVOR JR. HIGH
IN BRISTOL TWP.*Approve Tentative Plans and Express Willingness To

Largest District in Bucks
County Without A
High School

DOYLESTOWN, June 30.—Consolidation of a number of Bucks county school districts was discussed Tuesday at a meeting of the Bucks County Board of School Directors presided over by W. J. Growney, of Bridgeton township, the president.

The County Board is favorably disposed toward the establishment of a junior high school in Bristol Township so far as the tentative plans are concerned and is willing to co-operate with the County Superintendent's office in this project.

With two centers of population in Bristol Township—Croydon and Edgely—the township's burden of tuition under the laws is the heaviest of any fourth class school in the State, it was explained at the meeting. The district is the largest in Bucks county without a high school, it was stated.

"I don't think there should be any objection on the part of the Bristol schools if they were notified in time, because they too are crowded," Assistant Superintendent of Schools Charles Boehm, of Morrisville, declared.

Since the plans for the establishment of a junior high school in Bristol township involve many more contracts and stipulations, including a PWA application for aid, the County Board did not formally approve the plan because they are still incomplete, but expressed the idea they will co-operate with the district if the plans meet the various requirements, including those of the office of the County Superintendent.

Discussing the possible options for consolidation of school districts in the county, the County Board decided to start sending letters to the various school districts submitting possible options and asking the school boards to express their opinions in return.

ON AN EVEN FOOTING

The independent look of the woman who earned her own living and needed no man's help was so rare a manifestation in the early years of the present century that it furnished title and theme for a play which disturbed the complacent. Within the three decades that have intervened, however, women have made such great strides that the rarity of 30 years ago is the commonplace of today.

Women are no longer "an ornament of the home but a vital part of society, business and industry, and their talents have become as vitally necessary as those of men," says Mrs. Mary Roebing, bank president of Trenton, N. J., who addressed the world convention of Sororist clubs—organizations of women in business.

Mrs. Roebing believes woman's social emancipation had its beginning years ago through the typewriter, but there have been many other factors of equal if not greater importance. The development of stenographic devices may have provided jobs for women, but one must look deeper for the influences which have given women equal suffrage, opportunities to reach positions of top executives in many businesses and industries and government, and have elevated women to the posts of mayors of cities, governors of states, members of Congress, judges, ministers to foreign nations, not to forget the secretary of labor, the director of the mint and an assistant secretary of the treasury.

The secret of these revolutionary developments of the twentieth century may be found in the inherent unfairness of discrimination against able individuals because of sex, in the awakening of women to their social, political and economic abilities and possibilities and in the valiant efforts of the leaders who have fought for women's rights against odds of tradition and prejudice.

GOP PAYING UP

The Republican National Committee has reduced the $1,260,000 deficit with which it ended the 1936 campaign to $700,000, its report to the Clerk of the House at Washington discloses.

In the period Jan. 1-May 31 this year it collected urgently-needed dollars to the total of 350,000, which was not so bad for a party so often given up for dead.

More than $270,000 of the total of $350,000 came from nameless thousands who chipped in anywhere from a half-dollar up. The number of contributors was nearly 10,000, which was very good indeed.

Political parties unhappily can not get along without funds and it is far better for all concerned when these funds come more from the many than from the few. The 10,000 contributors to the Republican party these form the best of indications that, in spite of reverses, the GOP remains a vital political organism. That is thoroughly worth noting, a vital opposition party being not the least of our national needs.

everyone and the right word for those she had been told were the "right people." It was Mr. High who, in that campaign, did a great many other things to "corral the colored vote," which no one dreamed of doing before, and a great deal of the credit for the result must go to him. Certainly he knew much more about the Negroes in a mass and was closer to the Negro leaders individually than any other man. That was his job and he had his heart in it. Under the circumstances, when Mr. High discusses the Negro vote, as he did recently in the Saturday Evening Post, his views are entitled to weight. He speaks with authority.

—O—
AMONG other things he states what is entirely true—that an examination of party majorities in the three Presidential elections prior to 1936 indicates that the total Negro vote in a moderately close contest is really the balance of power—the difference between victory and defeat. In seventeen Northern States, then, pointing out that these States have a combined electoral vote of 281 out of a possible 531, whereas the eleven States of the solid South can muster only 124, Mr. High makes a very interesting and significant observation. "In short," he says, "a solid Black Belt is conceivably a thing more to be desired by the Democrats than a solid South."

—O—
THOSE WHO know the facts know that Mr. High is by no means alone in this view. On the contrary, it is shared by most of the really influential political strategists of the Roosevelt Administration. More has been done and more is being done by the Left wing insiders to keep the "Black Belt" solid for the Administration than has been done or is being done for any other block of voters in the country. Nor is Mr. High the only one who has mathematically satisfied himself that it pays better political dividends to keep the Negroes sweet and solid than any other group. In brief, while, of course, they will try to hold both, if the New Dealers have to choose between the solid South and the solid Black Belt, they unhesitatingly will choose the latter. Proof of that has already been given in the Administration support of the anti-lynching bill and in other ways.

—O—
THE truth, which Mr. High makes very clear in his article, is that in the last campaign—and in this—three separate but sympathetically linked forces worked to swing the Negroes away from the Republicans and over to the Democrats—to wit, the New Deal Administration, Mr. Lewis' C. I. O. and the Communist party. As Mr. High relates, the C. I. O. is the only labor faction which has let the bars down completely to the Negroes, and the Communist party is the only party where complete social as well as political equality between whites and Negroes is practiced as well as preached. As the New Deal had—and has—the support of both the C. I. O. unions and the Communists who are pretty well mixed together anyhow, the Good Neighbor League, backed by Mr. Farley and the relief organizations, had a favorable "setup" for its effort to solidify the Negroes for the President. They were already headed in that direction.

—O—
IT IS the opinion of Mr. High, who is not now nearly as close to the White House as once he was, that the Negroes in these seventeen States still retain their solidarity, but have, in addition, acquired mobility. Despite the extraordinary degree to which they are permeated by the Communists, who bore from within in every Negro movement, it will not do, he thinks, to count upon them as fixed political asset. Having shifted in mass once, they may again. All of which should provide food for reflection both in the South and outside.

TIMELY RECIPES You Will Want to Try!

If you've been regarding meat loaf as something that fits into the skimped budget class—forget it! For here are meat loaves that tempt the most exacting taste and have a real air about them.

Beef and Pork Meat Loaf

Take 3 pounds finely ground beef and mix with one-half pound ground salt pork. Add 1 cup rolled cracker crumbs and 3 well-beaten eggs. Add 3 tablespoons of salad oil and the juice and grated rind of 1 lemon and 1 cup of milk. Mix thoroughly, season with salt, pepper, a little sage and a few sprigs of blanched chopped parsley. Press into a greased mold, put a strip or two of bacon or salt pork on the top and bake in a moderate oven for 3 hours. Baste occasionally with stock or condensed consommé. Tomato soup may be added to the gravy for extra zest.

Individual Sausage Loaves

Mix lightly 1½ pounds sausage meat, ½ cup evaporated milk, 1½ cups crumbs, 1 teaspoon finely chopped onion, 2 tablespoons tomato ketchup, 2 tablespoons horseradish, 2 teaspoons prepared mustard and 1 egg. Pack into muffin tins or custard cups and bake in a moderate oven for 1½ hours. Serve with broiled canned peach halves garnished with green pineapple mint jelly. The peaches are particularly good if centers are filled with butter and honey before broiling.

Stuffed Bread Loaf

1 small onion chopped
1 tablespoon green pepper chopped
2 tablespoons bacon drippings
1 can cream of tomato soup
3 cups cooked ham chopped
1½ cups soft bread crumbs
3 sprigs parsley, minced
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 eggs, beaten slightly
Brown the onion and green pepper in the bacon drippings. Add canned cream of tomato soup and chopped cooked ham. Stir in bread crumbs and heat. Then add minced parsley, mustard, pepper and eggs. Use for stuffing a hollowed out loaf of bread. Bake in moderate oven for about 1 and ½ hours.

Savory Meat Loaf

2 pounds fresh beef
1 pound fresh pork
1 teaspoon salt
pepper
2 eggs
1 small chopped onion
½ cup milk
2 cups rice flakes
1/3 cup ketchup
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
6 slices salt pork
½ cup hot water
Grind meat together twice. Add remaining ingredients except the slices of salt pork and water and mix thoroughly. Shape into a loaf and place in a greased roasting pan. Notch edges of salt pork to prevent curling and lay across top of loaf. Sear in a very hot oven 15 minutes. Pour water around loaf and bake in a hot oven 1¼ hours. Uncover and rebrown slightly. Make a gravy to serve over the meat using as a base the liquid that is left in the pan.

Valentine Cake

If you do not have a heart-shaped cake mold use a heart-shaped paste-board box—which may be found at almost any time or department store. Line it with heavy wax paper and bake the cake in this instead of in a pan. Here is a good white cake to use.

1 cup shortening
2 cups sifted granulated sugar
3½ cups cake flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup lukewarm water
1 teaspoon orange flavoring
½ teaspoon almond flavoring
5 egg whites.
Blend shortening with sugar and beat till fluffy. Sift flour before measuring then sift twice with baking powder and salt. Add alternately to shortening mixture with water. Add flavorings. Beat one minute. Fold in egg whites beaten stiff but not dry. Bake in heart-shaped pan or box one hour and 25 minutes—moderate heat.

Icing

Beat 2 egg whites and 2 tablespoons water stiff but not dry. Add ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon cream of tartar, 3½ cups sifted confectioners' sugar, using Dover egg beater. Add ½ teaspoon almond flavoring. Decorate with candied hearts.

Washington Pie

Put two layers of sponge cake together with raspberry jelly or cherry conserve. Sprinkle sifted confectioners' sugar over the top.

Cherry Frosting For Washington's Birthday Cake

Decorate a white icing with clusters of cherries using strips of citron for leaves and angelica for stems.

Illinois Pumpkin Cookies For Lincoln's Birthday

1½ cups brown sugar
½ cup shortening
2 eggs
1½ cups canned pumpkin
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon ginger
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon lemon extract
2½ cups flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 cup raisins
1 cup chopped nut meats.
Cream sugar and shortening, add eggs, pumpkin and seasonings. Sift flour and baking powder and combine with sugar mixture. Add fruits and nuts and blend thoroughly. Drop from teaspoon to a well-oiled sheet. Bake 15 minutes at moderate heat.

Breakfast, luncheon or dinner, each is made more inviting when crisp hot corn breads are served. Try this old-fashioned meal as an ingredient for winter dishes.

Breadsticks

½ cup corn meal
1 cup flour
1 cup buttermilk
1 tablespoon sugar
1 tablespoon melted shortening
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon soda.
Combine all dry ingredients and add buttermilk. Beat until thoroughly mixed and add melted shortening. Heat breadstick pan in the oven and when very hot remove and grease.

Fill sections with batter and bake in a hot oven for 20 minutes or until brown.

Fried Cornmeal Mush

Cook two cups water, ½ cup corn meal, 1 teaspoon salt for 40 to 60 minutes. Pack into empty tin can. When cold cut in slices and brown in fat. Serve with syrup.

Batter Bread

Mix 3 egg yolks and 1½ cups boiled rice. Add mixture of 1 cup corn meal, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon baking powder. Add 1 pint milk. Melt 2 tablespoons butter in a baking dish and bake mixture in a moderate oven.

REMOVING SQUEAKS

NEWTON, Mass.—A new method of removing squeaks from automobiles was revealed when a motorist told Thomas Chanley, filling station attendant, he would bait a mouse trap to eliminate the squeak in his automobile.

The squeak, Chanley discovered, was caused by mice. Rather than go to the expense of removing upholstery from the rumble seat to get rid of the mice, the motorist decided upon baiting a trap.

KNOW YOUR STATE

Pennsylvania A Dust-Bowl?

(Prepared for The Courier by F. A. Pitkin, Executive Director, Pennsylvania State Planning Board)

When scenes of the terrific dust storms which periodically ravage the "dust bowls" of the Great Plains flash upon our theatre's screens in the weekly newsreels, we are apt to view with sympathy the hardships our Middle Western neighbors are enduring and let it go at that.

When, however, the statement is made authoritatively that the same adverse conditions are entirely possible, and indeed probable, in Pennsylvania, the situation assumes, for obvious reasons, an entirely different complexion.

Does such a threat exist? Reliable inventories of our land resources show that hundreds of thousands of acres of Pennsylvania land have already been ruined by erosion (which is the season for the troubles of the Great Plains), and that if steps are not taken to check the spread, the total will mount much higher.

What has caused this disastrous erosion? Improper land use. For, while soil erosion is a natural process, it rarely proceeds under natural conditions at a pace faster than that at which soil is formed by the deliberate process which nature employs to build soil. The natural balance, however, has been upset by man. Forests were cut down to make way for farms, the sod was turned exposing the bare soil directly to the winds and the rains, and the topsoil consequently began to blow and wash at an alarming rate.

Recognizing the immediate necessity for coping effectively with this problem, the Federal government recommended the enactment of State soil conservation district laws. In so doing, it realized that single-handed combat with erosion is costly and can never be anything but piecemeal.

There is only one style of attack that seems worthwhile, that seems to hold promise of success; and that is to begin the attack where the erosion begins: at the crests of the ridges, and work down, field by field, to the stream banks in the valley below. This style of attack would begin at the center of a dust area and move, section by section, towards its outskirts.

Erodible slopes and plains would again be clothed with trees or grass, cultivated crops would be restricted to the less erodible slopes and non-erodible lands. Sloping fields would be protected by such safeguards as strip cropping, terraces, and soil-measures. Soil-saving and soil-improving rotations would displace soil-depleting and erosion-aggravating of unwise cropping systems. Such a program can succeed only through co-operative effort, neighbor with neighbor, community with community, working when necessary with State and Federal agencies, such as the land-grant colleges and the State and Federal Departments of Agriculture; and even the program is formulated by the people who live on the land and its control is held tightly in their hands.

Pennsylvania is one of 22 States to enact a Soil Conservation District Law. The creation of soil conservation districts is not mandatory, but optional, and thus the problem of preserving Pennsylvania's land is put directly up to those most vitally affected. If the project fails, it is reasonable to expect that other arrangements will have to be made sooner or later.

The land is the natural heritage of society. Upon its continued fertility depends our life. Therefore, when this fertility is threatened, our very existence is threatened, as well. It is the right of society to check this threat.

FASHION PARADE

By Orry-Kelly (Famous Hollywood Stylist Writing For International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD—(INS)—"A good idea is always worth repeating," should be a fashion motto for the summer of 1938. A color is never used just once in an ensemble; practically every ornament has its twin; shoes and bag are made of the same pastel leather; two matching sweaters top the fashionable sports skirt; jewelry finds itself in two places at once. Here are some doubles we've picked at random from the Hollywood parade.

Anne Nagel goes in for furban and sandals of flashing Roman-striped silk jersey, letting them serve as twin splashes of color with an all-white ensemble.

When Anita Louise wears one of her pastel summer suits in either gabardine or doeskin she puts ornaments in her jacket lapels which are as like as two peas. Sometimes she uses similar fresh flowers or tiny clusters of millinery ones. Other times she wears Scotties, clown heads or jewelled stars.

Susan Hayward teams a bag of dusty pink suede with toeless and heelless sandals of the same material, both of them fastened with square rhinestone buckles.

Everybody is wearing twin sweater sets these days. At the midget auto races one evening Janet Shaw coupled a high-buttoned cardigan with a short-sleeved pull-over. Of chartruese cashmere, they're attractive with a flared skirt of oyster white wool crepe. On the golf course one morning she wore a rose wool ribbed sweater with a lime green linen blouse and skirt and a bellboy jacket sweater of the rose. Kay Winters who was merely walking around the course with her wore a very blousy beige sweater of Shetland wool with a hip-length boxy sweater-coat. Her skirt was bright blue Botany flannel.

Olivia de Havilland approves jewelry twosomes. One of her sets is composed of a rigid gold bracelet set with vari-colored cabachon gems and a matching bar pin. Another set is composed of four filigreed silver bracelets. She wears two of these on each wrist with her dressiest short-sleeved frocks or slips them over pull-overs.

Jan Holmer wears a flat little feathered rooster pinned to the breast pocket of a shirtmaker dress while its twin goes in her hair. Gloria Dickson wears a cluster of wild flowers at the throat of a soft summer dress and repeats them on a natural straw sailor.

So, from a fashion viewpoint, Hollywood proves that what is worth doing is worth doing well.

Institute Death Sentence

Paris, June 30—(INS)—Premier Edouard Daladier's government today published a decree instituting the death sentence in peace-time for spies apprehended in France.

The law, in many respects similar to those operating in Germany and Italy, permits the government to constitute special military and naval tribunals for the trials of espionage suspects.

May Postpone Executions

Harrisburg, June 30—Further respite for three condemned murderers which would postpone their triple execution, scheduled for July 11, were indicated today when it was announced the State Board of Pardons would consider their cases following a special session July 12.

Pardon Board Secretary Frank R. Hean announced the board postponed consideration of the cases of five men condemned to death next month in order to permit completion of certain investigations.

Scheduled to die July 11 are Joe Sennasaks and John G. Polens, convicted of the "triangle" slaying of Metro Semink, Youngville innkeeper, and Cesar Della Valle, of Philadelphia, found guilty of the slaying of 16-year-old Augustina Massari. Antonio Peronace of Northumberland County, who killed his wife and father-in-law in a family brawl, and Michael Fugmann, convicted slayer of three at Wilkes-Barre in the 1934 Easter "gift" bombings, are scheduled to die a week later.

FROSH PREFER READING

AMHERST, Mass.—(INS)—Reading is the favorite form of recreation among freshmen at Massachusetts State College, a survey of student activities revealed.

The vote of the yearlings showed reading had polled 235 votes, dancing 165, and tennis and moving pictures were tied with 140 votes each.

HINTS GIVEN FOR KEEPING COOL AND ALSO COMFORTABLE

By Miss Edna Stephany

(Home Economics Representative)
Be cool and collected during hot summer days with a simplified schedule of grooming and dressing.

First choice for warm weather calls for simple, becoming cotton or linen dresses. They may be inexpensive; so have several and keep them fresh and crisp. Pleated skirts are lovely, but do not add to ease of laundering in hot weather.

Arrange the hair simply. It will add to your comfort if you arrange it off the face as much as possible. Keep your hair immaculately clean by frequent shampooing. Summer is the time when you can dry it in the sun.

Essential to comfort and good grooming is a daily cleansing bath with warm water and soap. A cool shower or sponge bath is refreshing and doubly so if followed with witch-hazel or toilet water. There are many good deodorants which are inexpensive and add much to hot weather comfort.

Wash your face with warm soapy water or cleanse with cold cream before applying powder. Apply powder lightly.

Nails filed rather short to a neat oval will look well, even through the trials of jelly making or garden work. Lemon, tomato or rhubarb juice will remove stains.

No one can look cool and be cheerful if suffering from tired, aching feet. Much of this discomfort may be eliminated by giving more thought to foot care. No article of clothing is more important. Try to buy well-fitting shoes and hose. If your feet are hard to fit and you have finally found a satisfactory last, stick to that last.

Change shoes and hose frequently for better foot comfort. Never put on hose a second time without washing. It takes only a minute to wash them in lukewarm soap suds. Always use a mild soap and rinse hose thoroughly. Hang them up carefully. Mend hose before putting them away, and save yourself the annoyance of finding you have no hose ready to put on.

Sandals are cool, but too often give insufficient support to the foot. Shoes with low, or moderately low, heels are best to choose for much walking or in working either outdoors or about the house. Perforated shoes add much to foot comfort.

A last suggestion to relieve hot, tired feet is a cool foot bath and a rub with witch-hazel or alcohol.

DOG-OWNERS WARNED

HOOD RIVER, Ore. (INS)—Persons who fail to keep their dogs locked up at night will have only themselves to blame if their pets are shot by mistake, according to a Hood River county court ruling.

The court advised livestock owners they could shoot sheep-killing dogs, and advised dog owners to keep their pets locked up at night so there would be no chance of an innocent dog being shot.
